Spring 2011

Dear History Co-ordinator/Teacher(s),

Here are the dates, times and venues for professional development opportunities for History teachers during the Spring term.

Using the Internet and other Electronic Media in the Teaching of 1st Year History

These evening workshops will explore a range of resources available online and/or on DVD (sources include film, visual and written materials) that can be used to support the teaching of Section I of the Junior Certificate History syllabus. These will be explored in the context of methodological approaches that are appropriate to the learning needs and capacities of First Year students. Participants will be given a Guide to the teaching of key aspects of the first year course using the resources indicated.

European Retreat from Empire & the Aftermath, 1945-1990 Documents-based Studies

The approach in all workshops will reflect the syllabus focus on enquiry and evidence and will explore some of the means by which critical thinking skills are developed in the history classroom. It will explore the application to the case study of two approaches discussed in the Guidelines for Teachers viz. the enquiry-focused approach and the multi-perspective approach.

Workshop participants will be provided with a resource containing appropriate documents.
